AN ESSAY.

KENTUCKY, 3, 22, 1903.

EDITOR NEWS:
Resulting as I do my situation and general environment, I will have to deal with the political idea of understanding I had in view some time ago.

So, if you will be patient with me, I will send an article for publication in your paper, the subject of which is "The United States a Leading Power in the 20th Century."

It is not a queer fact, but an evident one that the progress of any nation is measured by its civilization. Without civilization there is no good government, and without government no liberty, without liberty, there is a repetition of savage warfare.

Hence it is no great wonder why the United States is placed in the Twentieth Century as the greatest power of the world, when she hangs like a shining star on the Western hemisphere with her model form of government, and marked degree of civilization. Her light of gospel and intelligence shines upon the islands of the great Orient with equal brilliancy as that of Great Britain with her Stanley and Livingstone.

In 1900, when Manchuria, China, Russia, Germany and nearly all of Orient together with the United States were bordering upon international warfare, the United States intervened with statesmanlike negotiations of peace and silenced the international conflict.

In 1900, a cruel war had raged not only for some years between Cuba and adjacent islands and Spain. There and there again the United States manifested her power in war as well as she had shown her potent influence in reconciliations of peace, and with such a man as McKinley at the head of the Nation, and Dewey, Schley, Shafter, Hobson and Theodore Roosevelt to execute his commands, the United States with these great heroes, upheld her hand in alliance to the suffering Cubans, and after one hundred days conflict, won Cuba's independence.

The effect of this war seem to unite the sympathies of the North and South. When the news came flashing on the wires to the ears of the American citizen, that on the 16th of Feb., 1898, the U. S. Battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor, with 268 of her citizens on board, the sympathizing pain of irritation struck the heart of the father and son of the gray alike that of the father and son of the blue, and together they walked side by side after the call of 126,000 volunteers by President McKinley.

And now, since this great event the motto "E pluribus Unum" could more fittingly be applied to the United Republics of America.

The beginning of the 19th Century found these United States hopelessly in debt, caused by a long and bloody war for liberty and freedom, and with a weak constitutional government founded by Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Lee, Hamilton and a number of other great statesmen. But when Alexander Hamilton, was named Secretary of treasury under Washington's administration the government took on a different face, and has been wearing it ever since, with two exceptions. It was said of that great financier by Daniel Webster, that "He smote the rock of National resources and abundant of revenue rained forth, he touched the dead corpse of the public credit and it sprang upon its feet."

By all civilized nations of the globe. Liverpool, London, Paris, and all foreign cities depend on the United States mainly for tobacco supplies. The whiskey distilled in Kentucky and Illinois consumed by all civilized countries. Large quantities of our lumber is shipped to nearly all foreign ports. The Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph stock yards are points mainly looked to for foreign pork demands. The Chicago Stock Exchange being the greatest in the world. A great number of our horses and mules ship to foreign demands have fallen upon the battlefields of the British wars.

The Kansas farmer raises wheat that is manufactured into flour and placed upon the Freemen's table three times a day if he be able to afford it. The Texas farmer raises cotton that is manufactured in London, Liverpool and Manchester into cotton goods and worn by British men and women. The California stock man raises sheep. The wool from them is manufactured in Falls City, London and Paris into woollen goods and worn by the far distant Siberian.

Our Railway lines are the greatest in extent of any Nation on the globe. Our telegraphic communication is almost complete. The long distance telephone lines are a modern invention, which makes the citizens of New York a door neighbor to the man of the "Lost Star State. The Emigrant of Seattle Washington is in almost direct touch with the old settler of St. Augustine, Fla. And when Cyrus W. Fields completed the Atlantic cable in 1866, spanning the bottom of the Atlantic ocean from Valencia Bay to Islands to Hearts continents Newfoundland, oceans were no longer a prevention to enter national communications.

Our steam boat navigation by the aid of our many navigable rivers and artificial canals, affords the largest domestic commercial trade of any country. In regard to our inventions, when recent a paper was published upon an Oceanic steamer by the aid of wireless telegraphy. Who says Uncle Sam isn't all right in the 20th Century.

A TRIBUTE TO WOMAN.

No more beautiful tribute to woman, our one more absolutely truthful, can be paid her than this extract from a recent sermon delivered by Rev. J. Kinney Smith, of Louisville. "The modern demand is ideally just; that the man ought to be as good as and as pure as the woman. But considered apart from the standards of ideal righteousness, and as a morally economic fact, a woman's honor is more precious to the home and to society than that of a man. A man's downfall involves only his own character and that of another, but a woman's downfall carries with it a far wider series of disaster. Not unjustly, then has this superstition, if it be a superstition, been rooted in universal human opinion. Nor will it ever be wholly unproved, or, if it is, it will be to the fatal detriment of human society. The womanly woman more over estimates this pearl of purity not for its prudential, but for its essential value. This heavenly flame glows in her heart, it is a quality of her blood, it shines as a light upon her face, it distills as a fragrance from her presence; it is the life and breath of her being. There is a divine something in the mere outward contact with an instinctively modest woman which acts on men like a spiritual tonic. They are made ashamed of their low thoughts and coarse aims by the very sacrament of her presence. The influence of such a woman in the home and in society is as pervasive as light, and as purifying as goodness itself. One such woman moving about her little world in the quiet beauty of character is worth more to the men and women who compose that circle than all the sermons that were ever preached or all the conventions for social purity that were ever held."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Some men go to bed too late ever to wake up famous.

The chief end of man is the one with the head on.

A woman is in as young as other women think she looks.

Some men owe more to their wives than they ever get paid.

A man is seldom as smart or as foolish as his wife thinks he is.

Strenuous pursuit of the impossible begets active misery the reward.

It is easier to get a modicum of talent than it is to get her to cut the price.

Money may not make the man, but that doesn't prevent the man from trying to make money.

A third party may be all right in politics, but when it comes to courtship it's different.

The average woman can detect flattery every time—except, of course, when it is lavished upon herself.

GORDON'S EAREWELL ADDRESS.

The following farewell address of Gen. John R. Gordon to his corps at the close of the war will be read with interest by every veteran of the "Lost Cause," who are so proud of the Commander in Chief of the Confederate Veterans Association and also by every right-minded citizen, for the good advice contained in it, and should be preserved as a matter of history connected with the late civil war:

"My countrymen and fellow soldiers: Already has our great commander, General Robt. E. Lee, spoken an affectionate farewell to the army of Northern Virginia. No pen or voice can add to his touching and noble address. I beg, however, as your late corps commander, the privilege of a few words in this sad hour of our parting. Let me assure you that my heart goes out to each and every one of this gallant corps in this dark hour of disaster. Do not doubt, my fellow soldiers, that the future historian will give to you the full measure of your martial glory."

Your battle flags, now furled, tell of your heroic achievements. Thousands of your comrades, on a hot every plain in historic old Virginia, sleep the sleep of death, yet the death of glory. But few survive the fierce conflict of civil war, and only a remnant is left to me to-day, to tell the story of the battles and privations of the Second Army Corps—the old corps of Stonewall Jackson. This corps and this army of Northern Virginia will be remembered as long as the names of Stonewall Jackson and Robt. E. Lee will be treasured by a grateful people.

Overwhelmed by superior numbers, and almost exhausted resources, together with the untiring energy and dauntless courage that has ever marked the military movements of the great leader of the Federal Army, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, the Army of Northern Virginia, an army of heroes, decimated by battle, disease and privation through four years of almost continuous warfare, will now disband, never, perhaps, to meet again. With our last parting let me impress upon you one or two thoughts, which I trust will go with you to your homes and friends. Remember that in God's providence we have surrendered, not to a foreign foe, but to our own countrymen. In the exhibition of your fortitude in the face of disaster, ever be as great and good citizens as you have been great and heroic soldiers. Ever be the model citizen, as you have been a model soldier. Obey the civil law, no matter how odious the same may be temporarily. Discharge every duty as a citizen of your respective states and to the general government. Sustain the poor, help the feeble and succor the unfortunate in your midst, and by so doing you will command not only the admiration and respect of the world, but win the friendship and confidence of those who are now your political enemies.

Fellow-soldiers, with my love and my benediction resting upon each and every one within the sound of my voice, I now bid you farewell. May God, in His infinite mercy and kindness, protect and bless you, now and forever."

THE NEXT HOUSE.

The next House of Representatives will number 393 members, an increase of 25 over the Congress just closed. For the first time since the 51st Congress, the membership will be divided between republicans and democrats, no third party or Fusion candidates having been elected. There are at present two vacancies in the membership of the next House.

Of the 388 members elected, 206 are republicans and 178 are democrats, a republican majority of 27. The two districts which have not yet elected representatives, the 7th, Oregon and the seventh Kansas, are both republican, and when these seats are filled the republican majority will be increased to 29. In the 57th Congress there were 201 republicans, 151 democrats and five others, a republican plurality of 50.

In the next house there will be 177 new members, 10 of whom were served in some Congress previous to the 57th Congress. Of the new members, 71 are democrats and 6 republicans. There will also be three new delegates, Arizona sending J. F. Wilson, a democrat, who represented the territory in the 56th Congress; Oklahoma, sending R. S. McGuire, a republican, and Prince Jonah Kalaialauala coming as a republican to represent Hawaii. The new Congressional directory contains the autobiographies of those members of Congress who will sit in the 58th Congress. There will be five members in the Kentucky delegation. James B. McCreary succeeds W. J. Deboe in the Senate, Ollie M. James will represent the First Kentucky district, A. O. Stanley will succeed Henry D. Allen, Joseph Swager Hickey comes in as H. S. Irwin's place and Frank A. Hopkins will represent the 10th district—C. J.

Mr. J. S. Snow, an old and well known merchant of Jackson Co., Mo., says: I have been a sufferer from kidney and bladder troubles for years. While I have not lost any time from my business, yet it was often an exertion for me to attend to it. I had no appetite and was gradually losing flesh; I did not feel sick, yet I had no energy, no ambition; felt sluggish and careworn. I began using GAY-LUBER and continued to use until I had taken half dozen bottles and now feel like a different man. I have gained ten pounds in weight and feel as bright and active as I did ten years ago. Sold by Mr. Cravens.

CHAS. S. HARRIS, Editor.

Democratic newspaper devoted to the interests of the city of Columbia and the people of Adair and adjacent counties.

Entered at the Columbia Postoffice as second class mail matter.

WED. MARCH 25, 1903.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For State Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce H. H. HENNINGER, Wayne county, a candidate for the office of State Treasurer, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Mr. N. B. Hays, of Pineville, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General. He is making an active canvass and wherever he speaks he makes friends who will stand with him till the fight is over. His speech in Greensburg last week, was strong, convincing the Democrats of that section that Mr. Hays is the logical candidate, measuring up to the requirements of the office in every particular. He is proving to the Democrats outside of the Eleventh district that the Eleventh has rights in common with other sections of the State and that no district in the State has truer supporters of party principles and party nominees than the Eleventh—the cut-off of four or five districts does not make others safe. We desire to say that Mr. Hays is not missing the mark in his speeches. He is calling attention that the Eleventh is a part of the State, that the 17,000 Democrats within its borders are not whooping for the Democratic party for policy but for principle, and that they are a part of the great brotherhood contending for the principles of a true Democracy without the fear of punishment or the hope of reward. It is evident that the Eleventh is a potent factor in a State election for it has voted enough to save the State in any close contest and yet the Democrats who have heretofore asked nominations from the party have been overthrown by the ambition and strength of stronger districts. The time has come when the party should not measure a man wholly by his surroundings. It is of worth to the party and to the State that every section should be represented and any policy adverse to this will inevitably lead to weakness and not to strength. The Eleventh does not seek to dominate, it has never crowded its claims on the party that we ask recognition. We know Mr. Hays. We know him to be an able man and a true Democrat and as a matter of justice to the Democrats of this District he should have the nomination. In this section we are all for him. No day has ever been so cold, no night too warm nor so precinct too remote for him to shun when called upon. He is a gallant, game, able Democrat worthy the honor he seeks. Democrats remember your duty to a mountain man.

Henry E. Thomas, a Baltimore, negro, and Elizabeth L. Landgren, a comely white girl of Swedish antecedents, were married in the First Presbyterian church, Washington, D. C., last Thursday by the pastor, Dr. Donald C. McLeod. For the benefit of society the pastor, the church building and the couple who were married should be placed over a dynamite bomb.

The Republican candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, in this district, who were at Burksville Monday of last week, joined in a request to the District Chairman for a meeting of the Committee, to be held in Columbia, Monday May 4, to take steps for a primary or convention to select nominees.

The elevator at the court-house in Louisville fell last week. There were twelve persons in the car, eight of whom were injured, two very seriously.

The waters in lower Mississippi river are receding, but there is hardly any to correctly estimate the damage.

NOTICE

To the Democratic Executive Committee of Adair county to meet at the Circuit Clerk's office on Monday the 6th day of April, 1903, at 1 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of appointing officers and to attend to other arrangements for the Primary Election on the 9th day of May, 1903. Said Primary is held for the purpose to settle the claims of the various candidates for State office; and would respectfully ask all Democratic candidates for the office of Circuit Clerk Clerk for said meeting to appear at said meeting and let their wishes be known to the committee.

N. M. TUTT, C. D. E. C.

COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE.

Mr. T. T. Hedger, in making his announcement for this important position in part says: "I beg to announce to you my candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, subject to the will of the Democratic voters at the primary to be held May 9. The short time intervening before the election renders it impossible for me to cover all of the State. I desire to state that I have been for years and am now a practical and active farmer, and that all of my interests are dependent upon the success of the farmers. I am in thorough sympathy with all matters pertaining to the advancement of the agricultural classes of the State, and of course, in our commonwealth it is well known that the success of all other lines of business are dependent upon the welfare of the farmers. I nominated I pledge my best efforts to use the Department of Agriculture in the interest of the farmers and the welfare of the Commonwealth."

I have all times been an active and consistent Democrat. I am profoundly grateful to the Democrats of Scott county, who have twice honored me with the honor of their nomination to the Eleventh district without opposition in the ranks of my own party. I have always been found in the thickest of the fight for Democratic principles, both State and National. I have served four years as a member of the State Central Democratic Committee, representing the Seventh Congressional District, and feel that I can point with pride to the success of the Democratic party in my district under my direction.

In these times of great combinations of capital and trust, no one feels more keenly the direct results of their unjust oppression than the farmer of the country, and I pledge you if nominated to use the office to resist the oppression of all trusts and to stand fighting for the interests of the agriculturists.

Mr. Money, of Mississippi, in discussing the race question in the United States Senate last week, among other things said: "Mr. Roosevelt is not a President of America, but the President of the black belt, and that he has won the hatred of the people of the South."

KING EAGLE,

This celebrated horse will make the present season at my stable,

84 miles north of East Fork, for the small sum of $8.00 to insure a living colt. All care will be taken to prevent accidents, but no responsible should any occur.

KING EAGLE is by Red Eagle and he by Red Squirrel; dam by

Longfellow, out of a Cabell Lexington mare. He is a dark bay, 4 years old and fifteen hands high. At the same time and place I will stand my two JACKS, BLACK CLOUD and JOHN for six dollars each. Black Cloud's sire sold for $1,500.
